BEFORE WE START... A NOTE FROM ME

My story is not unique but the choices I made along the way might be.

I was 30 years old, divorced (for the 2nd time), and $60K in debt. I was starting over, (again). And coming to the harsh reality that I was the common denominator. One decision, to have radical responsibility for my life and that I was done waiting for the perfect circumstances to start building it.

IF YOU WENT ALL IN ON YOURSELF &
TOOK RADICAL
RESPONSIBILITY FOR YOUR FINANCES, YOUR BUSINESS, YOUR LIFE. HOW WOULD YOUR LIFE CHANGE?

Working non-stop, without any guidance of my own. I dug myself out of my debt and managed to buy a home alone, turned it into a six-figure business, and built up a net worth of $600K (& still growing) all while keeping my day job. And now

None of it happened because I had it figured out.

It happened because I started before I did. And so I created the starter kit I wish I had when I was stumbling through the onset of my wealth building journey.

THIS GUIDE IS FOR YOU

THE GUIDE

THREE THINGS TO KNOW BEFORE YOU BUILD ANYTHING.

01. KNOW YOUR NUMBER

Wealth without a target is just hope. Before you build anything you need to know what you're actually building toward.

Your number is not your fantasy number. It's the specific monthly amount that would make your 9-5 optional. Not replaceable — optional. That distinction matters.

ASK YOURSELF

- What are my actual monthly expenses right now?
- What would I need to cover those expenses without my salary?
- What does "work optional" actually look like for my specific life?

When you know your number everything else becomes a math problem. And math problems have solutions.

02. FIND YOUR VEHICLE

Your vehicle is how you close the gap between where you are and your number. Most people chase the most exciting vehicle instead of the most realistic one.

The best vehicle for you fits your current skills, time, and resources — and can run alongside your 9-5 without burning you out.

THE MOST COMMON STARTING VEHICLES:

- Monetizing what you already own — your home, your car, your skills
- Building a service business based on what you already know how to do
- Creating digital products from your existing expertise
- Investing consistently from your paycheck before lifestyle inflation takes it

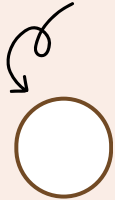

You don't need the perfect vehicle. You need the right first one.

03. YOUR NEXT 30 DAYS

WEEKLY CHECKLIST

Tick off once completed!

Week 1 — Audit: Look at where your money actually goes. Pull your last 30 days of transactions and categorize them honestly.

Week 2 — Identify: Pick one vehicle. Not three. One. The most realistic one for your specific situation right now.

Week 3 — Research: Go one level deeper. Talk to one person doing it. Read one guide about it.

Week 4 — Start: Do the first imperfect thing. Start before you're ready because ready is a myth.
